The two winners of the »BIH Excellence Award for Sex and Gender Aspects in Health Research« will talk about their research and impact.

Berlin Institute of Health (BIH) announced the award for the first time in 2017. It aims to bring more visibility to sex and gender issues in translational research. It recognizes research excellence among renowned scientists working in the field of basic and/or clinical biomedical research with a focus on sex and gender aspects. A jury of international experts selected the two winners from the pool of internationally renowned applicants. The 2017 »BIH Excellence Award for Sex and Gender Aspects in Health Research« goes to Louise Pilote and Rhonda Voskuhl. The researchers will come to Berlin for guest stays at BIH.
